

Players Will Sponsor Annual Production

Tryouts were held this week for "The Mad Woman of Chaillot" by Jean Giraudoux. Sponsored by the University Players, the two-act comedy will be under the direction of Dr. Edwin L. Clark.

Forty students turned out for tryouts Monday night. Further tryouts were held Wednesday and last night in the auditorium.

The spring dramatic production will be given Mar. 27 and 28.

The play was first given in 1948 at the Belasco Theater in New York City. It is a dig at the capitalistic system in the United States.

According to the New York Times literary critic, the Mad Woman "is frankly a whack. She lives happily in memories of a cozy past. She does not realize that the world has changed for the worse until her friends—waiters, ragmen and peddlers—tell her so.

"Although the Chaillot woman is obviously a mental case, she also knows the only thing that matters . . . that love is the only decent motive of living.

"With Giraudoux's magic wand, she rids the world of its parasites and everyone is happy."

The cast members will be announced by Dr. Clark next week.

Alums Will Give Final Fund Report

The report dinner closes the formal part of the 1953 Fund Drive. However, any contributions which come in after Monday will be credited to the Drive.

Korean Veteran's Note Info. Change

The Registrar's Office does not need a note of explanation for veterans' absences as was reported in last week's Gateway. But veterans should report to the Office before returning to classes if the absence has been for reasons other than health.

If the veteran has been absent due to illness, he must report to the Health Office upon return.

Veterans must sign in for G.I. Bill payments between the first and fifth of each month. If they report later than the fifth their checks may be delayed. An error in reporting last week had the reporting dates from the first to the fifteenth.

Press Club to Judge Professional Contest

Members of the University Press Club are judging entries in the first annual writing contest of the Nebraska Women's Press Club.

Mrs. Edith Skinner, contest chairman, submitted 55 pieces to Reston, New York Times correspondent, will be guest of honor this afternoon at a Coffee Hour in the Faculty Club Room from 4 until 5 p. m. All students are invited to the meeting, sponsored by the Press Club.

Reston will be heard this evening at 8:15 p. m. in the second of the lectures in the University auditorium.

America Faces Challenge

Reston told the audience that America has been confronted with an unusual challenge, the challenge of world leadership. He said that America didn't have five generations to prepare for the job as England did, but has been "pitchforked" into the job against her will.

As a result of this, he added, there is a "very natural gap between the pace of our history and the pace of development of our institutions and our habits of mind to deal with these new responsibilities."

Isolationism in View

Consequently, America is still experiencing an isolationist drag, although isolationism may be dead. He stated that isolationism is apparent in the attitudes held by many educated men and women. It is expressed in the idea that "whatever ought to be done — can be done.

Related to this opinion is the idea that America can still do as she chooses, although she is supposedly a part of a union of nations, primarily because she is paying most of the bill.

He summed up by saying that this opinion is illusory. He added a warning that "nobody is likely to produce miracles that will carry us back to the days of youth."

In closing Reston stated that "America is going to be part of the world now, not because it likes the role, but because in its own safety and self-interest, it must play the leading role."

Head football coach Lloyd Cardwell will be rehired on an annual basis after he completes his requirements for a B.A. degree. Cardwell is on a leave of absence, but is currently carrying a one-half time teaching load at the University.

Reappointed faculty members and their departments are: Robert Berueffy, chemistry; Richard Brewer, music; Max Burchard, sociology; Rex Call, business administration; Violet Dubois, health education; Clifford Ellis, journalism; Robert Harwick, English, and Nellie Jones, home economics.

Democracy at Work

The Nebraska legislature has approved the highly esteemed privilege of killing and being killed, and has banned the right of expressing an opinion which actually counts.

Does this sound crazy? Or is this just the American way?

Can a democracy spreading a doctrine of equality and fair play among the countries of the world justify the trust of responsibility for human life and yet, ban the right of the vote?

Death is final. The vote can be altered.

One is in the hands of many 18 year olds; the other is kept out of their reach.

Last week the Nebraska legislature stopped the proposed bill which would allow 18, 19 and 20 year old citizens a chance to say whether they would like to die tomorrow or live a few more years and enjoy life.

There are arguments against the once-proposed bill. "Teen-agers don't know what they are doing." "They have no interest in politics." "They are just a bunch of crazy kids."

There are more. They come from all age brackets. Even from the 18, 19 and 20 year olds. They have lost their confidence. They do not feel that they are adequate to vote.

But they are adequate enough to fight and to kill and to die. This they know.

If the representatives to the Nebraska legislature will remember the intense instruction in American Government and Civics, their fresh serious opinions, usually unbiased, fair evaluations and interest. If they will remember a live interest, untouched by family tradition, unimpressed by the orator, governed by the trust and faith only youth possess. If they will remember, they will reconsider.

And . . . tell me, Mr. Congressman, if you can, how much smarter, or wiser, or worldly are we at 21 than we were at 20, or 19 or 18?

Animal Strikes Garlough; Prof. Takes No Action

By Paul Cherling

A dangerous animal is loose in the city. This astounding fact was discovered by Dr. Leslie Garlough, biology instructor, about 20 years ago.

Unfortunately for all eager hunters this particular animal is out of season the year round, and it seems to bother only Garlough. It is supposedly civilized and is found in newspaper offices. It is known as a newspaperman.

Gives Opinion

The first encounter that Garlough had with the creature was in 1931, shortly after coming to Omaha. Following a flight over the city in a dilapidated airplane, Garlough was asked his opinion of the city by a reporter from the local newspaper.

His reply mentioned the interesting stream eroded landscape. The following Sunday a full page spread with pictures appeared in the paper with the headline, "Garlough Says Nebraska Is a Wash-out." The story was not forgotten by the citizens as Garlough found out when he tried to buy a tie a few months later.

Elephant Men

During the same interview, the reporter asked Garlough about evolution. Garlough replied that man was developing a slightly larger brain and that the number of teeth was decreasing. He also stated that elephants' teeth were being reduced in number.

The story that resulted had a grotesque cartoon showing a man with a big, shiny head and a little body. The man was dressed in a Little Lord Fauntleroy suit. The story stated, "Garlough Says Man Is Taking The Elephant For A Pattern."

A few years ago Nebraska was struck by a locust plague. Reporters from the newspaper invaded one of Garlough's laboratories with a battery of cameras to get pictures and an authoritative story on the locusts.

Then Locusts

Garlough was herded into a corner while the reporters decorated the hair and clothing of pretty coeds with locusts from the lab. The picture was taken and appeared in the paper with the caption, "They Are Studying Locusts At Omaha University." The statement was true, but the picture gave an odd impression.

Even Gateway reporters have given Garlough a bad time. When the General Biology course was introduced to the University, Garlough was interviewed by a Gateway reporter.

Another Misquote

Garlough stated that in the new course practical things would be taught rather than the insignificant things that are merely nice to know. The ensuing story in the Gateway began, "Garlough Is Not Teaching Things That Are Nice To Know."

When Dr. Garlough was interviewed for this story, he showed no bitterness as a result of his previous experience with newspapers. However, if an error such as those that have been mentioned appears in this story, it is quite likely that he will forget the game laws that protect newspapermen. If so, any gunshots you hear will mean that open season has been declared on this writer.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Scuttlebutt has it that there is a disgruntled sorehead around the university who likes to write sour-grapes letters concerning the AF-ROTC unit. As veterans of all the various services we have seen and heard this same type of critter so many times that it is hardly worth talking about. These characters are all alike. They incessantly gripe without reason or purpose and serve without value. Yet we are in AF-ROTC as well as being veterans and if this guy is to be answered this is what we say to him:

Cry your heart out!!! And let the glistening tears fall on the egg in your beer. But remember, you cry alone. Who cares? We don't give a damn and we doubt if anyone else does. If you really can't stand it there is always the Ak-Sar-Ben bridge.

Just in case there is more to be said we sign our names so that this can be continued in a barracks type bull session.

Dear Editor:

The Brush and Easel Club art exhibit is, as I expected it would be, poor. The show is dominated by "modernistic" misrepresentations that are neither good or bad for their art. Fancy Pants Are Newest College Style

Every college girl will want a pantalet when she sees how stylish they have become!

In order to add a little femininity to the feature page and to bring college students up to date on the latest fashions, a recent issue of Life Magazine gives the low-down on the latest feminine rage, fancy pants.

The fancy pants are beginning to make their appearance in public all over the United States. They are worn beneath dresses which look normal except that the skirts, slit to the waist or cut in a swirling effect, show off the knee-length pants when the wearer walks or sits.

According to Life, the fancy pants attract attention in direct ratio to the flip of the gal's hip.

By summertime, the outfits are very likely to become accepted for street wear.

One of the most unique advantages of the pantalet is that of letting a lady stand on her head while still remaining a lady. However, since only about three women in 100 can stand on their heads for any length of time, the feature may have a limited appeal.

Beauty Queen Falls; Gets Lots of Rides

A ride led to a broken ankle and thus to a series of rides for Patsy Kavan, '52 Tomahawk Beauty Queen, last week.

While crossing the street to get a ride home, Pat slipped on the ice and split two bones in her foot. The next morning the series of rides began. First was the ride to the hospital, the ride through the ambulance entrance, the ride up in the elevator, the ride on the push cart, and finally the ride in the wheel chair to get the cast put on.

Patsy's only comment on the incident was, "It's so interesting to watch a cast being put on."

Most everyone else would have had a few other choice expressions.

National Colleges Give the Needle

More and more college students are getting the needle.

In an effort to curb the flu epidemic—and to ease the strain on student health centers—colleges and universities around the country have been giving free inoculations.

Louisiana State University set up tents in which students received their shots, and at the University of Missouri, the ballroom of the student union was transformed into an emergency hospital.

These shots are nothing new to OU students, however, for the university nurse has been giving influenza shots every fall for the past few years—for a small fee.

Red Trouble . . .

Most publications just can't seem to escape that inevitable typographical error which crop up in the latest edition every once in a while.

The faces on the staff of the Daily Athenaeum of West Virginia University were really red last week.

Commenting on the Communist investigations on the campuses of many schools, the paper said "there are undoubtedly Communists in the American school and college system . . . But let us not destroy public confidence in the institution while getting red of them."

light should create apprehensions.

Of course I am as "non regenerate" and have no aesthetic feelings so my ideas on art should not be considered.

This is because I've never taken a course in art at this institution. Thank heavens for small favors. (Roger Ruskin Dunbar).

Panhell Prexy Committeewoman Jean . . .

A gavel is standard equipment for Jean Salladay, president of the Panhellenic Council and Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Jean can be found doing a variety of things when she isn't wielding the gavel at some committee meeting. Her activities include the Home Ec Club, the Retailing Club, Angel's Flight and Orchestis. Taking part in these groups has made Jean an authority on the functions of committees on which she commented, "They're essential, but can be very bothersome."

Jean is studying for a BA in Home Ec, with a major in Retailing. After graduation she would like to become a buyer, preferably, "something to do with fabrics and designing. I love it."

Modern Tastes

Persons who are acquainted with Jeanie would be willing to take bets that whatever she does will have a modern touch. Salladay, as she is usually called on campus, is a fan of modern furniture, dance, and fabrics. Although Jean likes music of every type, from the aria Pagliacci (she could even spell it), to popular jazz, her favorites are the modern abstractions like "Street Scene." One of her most enjoyable experiences was dancing a modern interpretation of vice in Zeta's Maie Day skit last spring.

Active in the sorority since she was a freshman and elected president of her pledge class and selected outstanding pledge, Jean believes that sororities are, "part of college life which help to develop a girl's personality, and encourage high scholarship."

Gets Around

Although "Salads" never has been farther West than Grand Island, she would like to live on a ranch. Having lived in Ohio, and traveled in Illinois, New York, Minnesota, and Canada, Jean thinks that the people in the West are more friendly than those in the East. However, she doesn't know how long she could get along on steaks instead of Rueben sandwiches, which to the uninitiated consist of Swiss cheese, sauerkraut, and corn beef.

Regardless of how "bothersome" committees are, friends have noticed that Jean is always willing to serve on one, especially if it has to do with planning for OU. Jean stated that, "OU is growing and will continue to grow because the student body is more willing to work for growth than they've been previously." . . . Pat.

About "Anything" Goes Musical's Color, Sets Brighten Production

By Joanne Larkin

It was "Anything Goes" on the University stage last week-end and the audience applauded. Boosted by the cast's enthusiasm and the dashing color of the sets and costumes, this second OU musical comedy confirmed the beginning of another tradition.

The smooth injections of such specialty numbers as Dean Short and his dancing marionettes, Johnny Vana and Vibraphones, Jack Irwin's combo and the acrobatic antics of Patty Vorel satisfied many that all the characteristics of the old Tom-Tom Revue, were not lost.

But, in addition to the specialty numbers, the audience was treated to a fast moving plot, popular Cole Porter tunes and comedy by Jack Dunlevy.

Leads Good

Ruth Longville, Dewey Crouch and Jean Madden, cast as the sexy night club entertainer, general manager-lover, and rich mixed up Hope Harcourt, were good in their dual roles of singer and actor.

Dunlevy, as Public Enemy Number 13, "Moon Face" Martin, commanded the comedy stage from the instant he stumbled up the gangplank until his dreams of notoriety were blasted in England. His actions, expressions, and soulful rendition of "Blue Bird" delighted the audience.

Wheeler, Chorus Add

The singing chorus added to the gaiety of the show with their specialties of "Lady Fair" and "Where Are the Men" in addition to supplementing the solo numbers. Millicent Wheeler, started the show with "Can't Help Lovin' That Man," receiving hearty approval from the audience.

The dancing chorus performed their short "spots" with zest, adding another entertainment feature to the variety musical.

"Speakers" Provided Laughs

On the "strictly for speaking" parts, Leonore Marx, Norman Paasch and Ann McTaggart provided a variety of top notch character portrayals. Jack Frost as

E. J. Whitney gave the role an ample portion of bluster and swagger.

Dick Johnson turned in the best stagger of the evening as the ship's drunk. Phil Abramson, although on stage only a few minutes, caught the mood of "Anything Goes," in his part of Lord Oakleigh.

Others Successful

Dick Smith, Val Kuffel, Larry Means, Keith Williams, Gary Anderson, Cliff Soubier, Jim Dubois, Jim Erixon, Anita Reznichuk, Marian Tyndale, John Mitchell, and the Pekingese contributed much to the success of the show.

Vicki Morris and Dorothy Ehlers as Ching and Ling, Chinese converts, provided more chuckles for the audience.

Special thanks must go to Dr. Edwin Clark, Dr. Robert Flester, and Richard H. Brewer, faculty directors, who gave students and friends an opportunity to vision what might be accomplished with adequate facilities and college talent. Jim Erixon, student dialogue director, Irv Jones, student conductor, and Ray Hovendick, lighting, added to the smooth backstage and onstage operations. Miss Mary Lou Neibling, phys ed instructor, did the fanciful, appropriate choreography for the dancing chorus.

"Anything Goes" was a sell-out both performances.

'Grain' Deadline Falls Mar. 16—Dr. Harper

Indians Travel To Morningside

Tonight the Indians will close a successful season when they travel to Sioux City, Ia., to play Morningside College.

The Yelkin-men are already assured of their best post-World War II season record as they have won 14 and lost 7 so far this year.

In tonight's fray the hoopsters will be trying to hit the .500 mark for road games.

The Indians have a drab road record of two wins—five losses. However, the Redmen have fared much better in the Fieldhouse as they boast a season's home record of 11 wins against two setbacks.

Holds Earlier Victory

The hoopsters hold an earlier victory over the Al Buckingham-tutored crew. At the start of the season, OU dumped the Iowans 65-57 on the home maples Dec. 6.

The North Central Intercollegiate conference crew boasts four seniors, all returning lettermen from last year's crew, that downed the Indians twice, 76-56 and 78-75.

Returning senior lettermen are Dick Blumeyer, Arvin Bomgaars, and two brothers, Ray and Fred Knauer.

Knauer High Scorer

In the scoring column the Morningside are led by Ray Knauer, who plays both center and forward.

Supporting Ray Knauer are two juniors, Bob Hussey and Dick Norman. Hussey is expected to break into the starting five, while Norman is returning for his second year on the first string.

Claussen Holds Record

Bill Ido, a junior, Dave Vanden Berg, All State freshman from Sioux Center, Ia., and Wilbur Long, sophomore, round out the Morningside varsity.

In the point-getting race Don Claussen has set an OU record of 322 points with two games remaining. Still holding down second and third place in the scoring parade are Bob Mackie and Bob Rose, respectively.

Mackie has dropped in 292 points while Rose has tallied 195 markers.

Papooses Cop 98-52 Decision

Stan Schaetzle sparked the University of Omaha's Papooses to a romp over Nebraska Trade 98 to 52 on the Fieldhouse floor Tuesday night.

The ex-South High athlete made 28 points, and was deadly on rebounds. Schaetzle had fine support from Bill Petrick and Don Blocker, each hitting 15 points. Howard Baker made 13 points, bringing his season total to 255.

The little Indians never trailed. At the half the score was 56 to 32. It was the Papooses' eighteenth win in sixteen starts. Omaha University's basketball future looks bright for next year.

Chet Nichols was the best Nebraska Trade could offer. He was a threat under the boards, and he was high scorer with 14 points.

Alpha Xi Delta Holds Slim Lead

Alpha Xi Delta continued to hold a slim first place margin in the OU Women's Bowling League this week. Sigma Kappa, which is tied with Alpha Xi with 39 games won, holds a close second place with 17 games lost, compared to the title holders with 16½ games lost.

Chi Omega holds high team game and high team series with 418 and 1,434 points, respectively.

Corinne Houser, Chi Omega, holds the high individual series title with 418 points. Marilyn Rogers, Chi Omega, boasts 160 points for high individual game score.

Sign Up Now

Virgil Yelkin, director of athletics, requests all men students interested in playing varsity baseball this coming season sign the roster in the Fieldhouse Athletic Office No. 1. Watch for the announcement regarding the first meeting.

Indians Drop Doane, 64-57

Omaha University's basketball team warmed up for the coming NAIA Basketball Tournament by defeating Doane College 64 to 57 Saturday in the Fieldhouse.

Don Claussen and Bob Mackie led the fast-breaking Indians toward victory by scoring 24 and 20 points, respectively. The game was not as close as the score indicated. At one time the Indians were ahead 34 to 20.

Mackie Sparks OU

With a little more than two minutes left, the Doane Tigers pulled within three points of the Omaha squad. But the Indians went into a stall spearheaded by Bob Mackie and the Tigers were held helplessly at bay.

Larry Tesar was the big scorer for Doane with 16 points. Don Pizar and Jerry Troester each tallied 12 points. Pete Eddy played an outstanding floor game for the Tigers.

The Indians were superior under the boards, and they managed to bottle up Doane's offensive unit. Bob Moscrey was a constant threat with his long shot, and hustling Fred Shinrock was setting up the last breaks.

Seniors Play Last

Doane played much better than they did at home against the Indians, when the score was 89 to 40, but they did miss many opportunities in Saturday's game.

Bob Rose, Don Fitch and Larry Johnson, senior lettermen, played their last home game for the University of Omaha.

The Indians play this season's last game tonight against Morningside College, there. They completed a successful home stand with 11 victories and two defeats.

Cage Playoff Is Uncertain

Will Omaha U's basketball team meet Nebraska Wesleyan in a playoff to decide Nebraska's representative in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City?

The playoff selection was to meet at the end of this week to make a definite decision on the state selection. Perhaps OU will meet Wesleyan in a single game playoff, or in a best two-out-of-three battle. Or the committee might put OU, Wesleyan and two other Nebraska College Conference teams into a four-team playoff—the same as last year's meet.

Coach Virgil Yelkin has discussed the matter with the chairman of the committee, pointing to OU's record of five wins and only one loss to Nebraska Conference teams. Wesleyan has clinched their conference title.

Maseman Captains '53 Baseball Squad

By Don Digillo

Baseball season is coming, and the name of Don Maseman will undoubtedly be on the lips of all baseball fans. Don is a three-year letterman on the squad, and his fancy fielding and hard hitting is one of the reasons the outlook is bright for the coming diamond crew.

Honors have been bestowed upon Maseman since grade school and they haven't stopped yet. At the 1952 football banquet, Don was elected captain for the 1953 season.

Don attended Central High. His athletic ability there is still remembered by coaches and former students. He was selected for the Spring fever in February. Maseman practice pitches a snowball.

All-City baseball team twice and the All-City Legion team three times. He quarterbacked the Central Eagles football team for three years.

Maseman has played two years of varsity football at OU. Modest Maseman stated that he couldn't recall the most exciting experience he had in sports. But Football Coach Lloyd Cardwell said that a feat performed by Don in the Missouri Central College football game was the most brilliant defensive maneuver he has ever seen. A Missouri back started to punt the ball, but Don swept in, grabbed the ball right off the startled kicker's toe, and scampered to a touchdown.

Last summer he played for the Herman Independents, a fast moving semi-pro baseball team. Don also plays golf during the summer months.

Fred Shinrock and Don Claussen led the University of Omaha's basketball team to a decisive victory of 88-68 over Simpson College Tuesday night at Indianola, Ia.

Shinrock and Claussen were torrid and the duo scored 48 points between them, more than half of OU's point production total. "Shaky" dumped in 25, his best effort of the season so far, while "Mope" tallied 23 markers.

The Indians made a clean sweep of the two-game series with the Redmen, as earlier this season in the OU Fieldhouse the Red and Black dumped the Iowans, 76-74, after a close game.

Playing the control style of ball, the Indians got off to a fast start and held an 18-12 edge when the first quarter ended. The Indians were never behind. They were ahead, 44-35, at the intermission, and 62-52 entering the last ten minutes of play.

Coach Virgil Yelkin swept the bench and the subs saw considerable action during the final stanza of play. But the tired Simpson crew couldn't stand the stepped-up tempo.

Al Haughey led the Simpsons with 18 points. The only other support came from Ed Weeks and Al Beane, both scoring 11 points. Charlie Kerr, the Iowans' big center, was held at bay and could manage only nine points.

District Tournéy Starts Next Week

The District Tournament will begin Tuesday and continue each night through Saturday. Two games will be played nightly, the first starting at 7, the other at 8:45. The final game will be played Saturday night at 8.

For the first time eight teams will bid for the District championship. Cathedral, which became a Class A team this year, Benson, Boys Town, Central, North, Prep, South and Tech will be competing.

Pairings were drawn at Lincoln and will not be revealed until Monday.

Admission will be 40 cents for students, 80 cents for adults.

Omaha U AF-ROTC, Women's Rifle Teams Journey to Grand Island for Tournament

Omaha University's women's rifle team stole the show from the Air Force ROTC rifle team in Grand Island Sunday, Feb. 22, by winning all three matches, while the men managed only one medal.

The women's team was composed of Janet Lee Anderson, Ruth Longville and Jo Thorson. Miss Anderson won two medals. Twice she hit ten out of ten bull's-eyes. Each bull's-eye counts as ten points, giving her a possible of 100 points.

Longville Cops Honors

Ruth Longville walked off with the highest honors. She won the Women's Mid-State Championship. The girls won all three of their matches in this Nebraska Mid-State Gallery Tournament. This was an open tournament. Participants were put in certain classes according to their ability.

Sharpshooter Frank Sedlachek was the only man from Omaha University to cop a medal. He scored ten straight bull's-eyes for a possible 100 points.

Drop Close Decisions

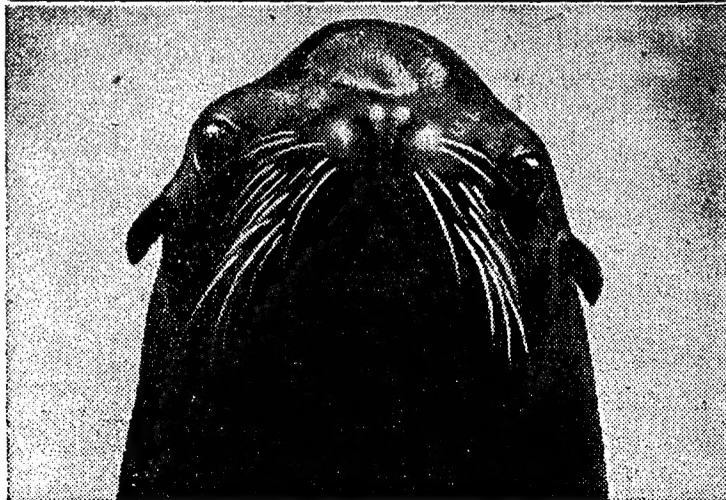

OU's four-man team and two-man team both dropped close decisions. Other men to make the trip were Gil Davis, Glenn Davis and Jim Ryan.

This was the second time the girls have journeyed to Grand Island. Last year they lost. They will make one more trip to Grand Island this year for the State Tournament on Mar. 28 and 29.

The Air Force ROTC will fire against Carson, Ia., on Mar. 3, and the girls have a match coming up against an Omaha high school.

The Feb. 20 match with Creighton University was called off.

Pawnees Champs By 43-41 Victory

The Pawnees surprised the ROTC Tuesday, 43-41, to win the title game in the championship bracket of the Intramural Basketball Tournament. They rallied for 18 points in the third quarter after trailing by 21-13 at halftime, and owned a 31-26 lead at the start of the final period.

Twice the ROTC fought to within one point of the winners, but they could not put in the tying or lead-point.

Orville Jensen paced the victors with 16 points and Dick Cotton added 12.

John Meyer, former court ace at Abraham Lincoln High, scored 11 points before fouling out midway through the last quarter. His absence was a contributing factor to the Pawnee victory.

Bob Gerdeman was the actual leader with 14 points.

The outcome was not decided until Ernie Lee shook loose for a lay-up on a sleeper with about one minute left in the game. ROTC was employing a full court press at the time in a desperate effort to gain possession of the ball. Lee got behind the defenders and scored easily.

Lambda Chi Bows To Sig Ep Crews

Sig Eps stayed in contention for the title game with a 44-28 triumph over Lambda Chi Wednesday. They started slowly and trailed 5-4 after the first quarter. They led by only 14-10 at half-time.

Bob Chapman started to connect in the second half and the winners pulled away. The score was 28-19 after three frames.

Chapman tallied 15 points for the winners, but he had to yield scoring honors to Bernie Lainson of Lambda Chi who made 17. Lainson was the outstanding player of the game, but he received very little help from his teammates.

Lambda Chi, with LaRue Garrett, Bill Fedderson, and Lainson, had a slight height advantage, but they had trouble getting rebounds. Chapman, Ron Benson, and Ken Kremers controlled most of the rebounds.

ISA Keeps Bowling Lead

The Independents still hold a slim lead in the Intramural Bowling League following last week's action at the 40 Bowl. They won two out of three games from Theta Chi while second place Lambda Chi edged closer to the top with a 3-0 decision over ROTC. Sig Ep downed Pi Kappa Alpha in the other contest, despite a 214 score turned in by Jerry Welling.

Trackmen Continue Fieldhouse Practice In Preparation for March Triangular Meet

Trackmen continue to work out in the Fieldhouse in preparation for the triangular between Wayne and Nebraska Wesleyan Mar. 12.

Sprint men Jerry Tannahill, Joe Nalty and Bob Schropp should return to form in the 60-yard dash and sprint relays. Nalty, who last year ran the dash in 6:2, should equal or better his times this year, according to Track Coach Ernie Gorr.

Zeta, Unaffiliated Win First Round

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority and the Unaffiliated teams won the first round in the Omaha University Women's Intramural basketball tournament last week.

Zeta Tau Alpha defeated Alpha Xi Delta, 26 to 17. Chi O's bowed to Unaffiliated with a score of 26 to 19.

Marilyn Rogers, chairman of the tournament, announced that Chi O's and Independents will meet at 4:30 p. m. in the women's physical education hut Mar. 3.

Mar. 4, Alpha Xi and Sigma Kappa will enter the second round of the tournament. Unaffiliated and Independents will play Mar. 5.

Needs Managers

Track Coach Ernie Gorr needs two student managers for track. Those interested should contact Coach Gorr in his office sometime next week.

The field events also have many of last year's lettermen to bolster the squad. Roger Dunbar and LaRue Garrett, Indian highjumpers, are trying for new heights, and Jerry Tannahill hopes to beat his 20 foot 10 inch broad jump. Joe Hanna, a freshman from Benson, also shows promise as a broad-jumper.

Big Larry Johnson, PE major, will have to push the shotput quite a ways to keep ahead of Arnold Smith and John Flood.

Dick May, Bob Carlson and Burtin Kinney are all polevaulers of merit who are trying to fill the spot left by January Graduate Keith Christie.

Coach Gorr stated that anyone interested in track should still come out. "It's up to the boys to get in condition. The schedule is flexible. Any time of the day is suitable for training as long as it is regular. Many of the boys have to substitute the afternoon practice because of work or classes. We have a long season ahead of us. We have top notch competitors which will be hard to beat."

P. E. Majors Take 3rd Place Title

The P.E. Majors won the third place division title. They won by forfeit from the Sioux. Before advancing to the finals, they nudged Independents, 38-37. Marvin Greenwood fired 16 points for the winners; Jerry Lawson helped with nine. Dick Betcke of ISA made 12 and Fritz Buglewicz hit eight.

The Sioux walloped Delta Sigs, 72-16, before forfeiting the title. Charlie Johnson enjoyed a field day, scoring 27 points. Dick Shapland was close with 24.

Turner Tefft, better known for his accomplishments on the bowling alley, managed six points to pace the losers' futile attack.

Sig Eps Down Theta Chi 38-28

Sig Eps dropped Theta Chi in Monday's opening game of the Interfraternity Basketball Tournament, 38-28. Their balanced attack was enough to offset the fine scoring two-some of Merlyn Fratt and Don Maseman of the losers.

Sig Eps led 21-10 at the half, but had to withstand a determined Theta Chi bid in the fourth quarter.

Bob Chapman, ace of the winners, was held to 10 points. Ron Benson tallied eight; Roger Orr, five, and Lowell Zeplin and Lowell Huber each got four.

Maseman and Fratt tallied ten points each, but they did not have enough help.

Pikes Trample Theta Chi 53-29

Pi Kappa Alpha, winner by forfeit from Lambda Chi on Tuesday, won over Theta Chi 53-29 in the Wednesday feature. They led throughout the contest and cinched the win with a 20-point spurt in the fourth quarter.

Playing without the injured Jim McCart, the Pi Kaps got outstanding playing from Kyle Petit, Aksel Schmidt and Dan Peterson. These three scored 40 of the 53 points. Schmidt led with 16, Peterson made 13, and Petit got 11.

Theta Chi was hampered by the absence of Merlyn Fratt. Don Maseman managed to drop in 10 points and Tom Bell got six. Maseman was guarded heavily, and Bell fouled out early in the last period.

Dan Peterson was a giant under the boards for the winners, and he also was largely responsible for holding down Maseman.

The Pi Kaps, undefeated in the tourney, met Sig Ep yesterday for the title.

Little Details of Make-up Essential To Appearance

Going out tonight? That seems to be an age-old question asked among women. More than often the answer is yes, and these women want to look their loveliest. Here are a few beauty tips to be used, not only for your night life, but for work or school.

One of the most changeable problems of a woman's make-up is her lipstick. A current beauty magazine has given out these hints for your consideration.

If you are to be under a fluorescent light, you can count on your lipstick turning a violent shade of purple. Instead of wearing a bluetoned lip rouge, wear one that has an orange-red cast to it. For those who will find themselves under the regular incandescent light, use a lipstick with more of a pink shade to it.

But lipstick is not all that is important when getting ready for that special evening. Be sure that before you apply any make-up you give your face a good cleansing with either soap and water or with cream. Then put on your foundation cream or powder base.

Your powder will stay on a lot longer and will look smoother if you use a good base.

Now the next step in make-up is something that not all college women need. That is a rouge to give your cheeks that certain glow.

One of the final touches is your lipstick. Place some powder on your lips before applying the lipstick. This will make your lips dry and you will keep your lipstick on longer.

Now check the hairdo and see how it looks. Add a dab of perfume behind each ear and on your wrist and you are ready to go. You can step out and meet your public. You have made the most of your looks by painting yourself a prettier picture.

Surprised Students Learn of Radioactive Ceramic Pigment

Have you had your atomic cereal this morning? Did you eat hot biscuits from a hot plate? You may have, and they may not have been hot in the way you usually think of the term.

That pretty yellow flower pot in the kitchen, for example, may be waiting for a chance to drive a radiation counter into a frenzy of activity.

It's the result of an innocent-looking pigment that is used in most of the best ceramic, chrome or uranium yellow.

Radioactive

It was used in the best pottery ware. That was before Oak Ridge and the A-bomb. Now, it's almost impossible to get your hands on some for art work. This coloring agent turned out to have a base of uranium salts, and is radioactive.

Robert Koch of the art department heard about the shortage and its cause, and took a vial of the yellow pigment to J. G. McMillan and his atomic physics class for testing. When the vial was put under the counter probe, there was no doubt that the yellow powder was radioactive.

Not Harmful

However, the color agent has been used for years, and with no harmful results. Grandpa was probably eating from red-hot plates before the general public ever heard of an A-bomb or gamma rays.

In line with this point, Dr. Aebersold, who is in charge of dispensing radioactive isotopes at Oak Ridge, used this point to allay the public fear of radioactivity that arose with the first publicity given the atomic projects. Aebersold sold travelled with a set of Fiesta-war dishes, made with chrome yellow, and a Geiger counter, and proved to people that they had been subjected to mild doses for years.

One Drawback

One drawback arises, owing to the nature of the pigment, it has been appropriated by the Atomic Energy Commission, and is no longer available for public consumption. Unfortunately, there is no substitute.

"Now some people think that advertising forces people to want commodities they can't afford," he explained as he held up a large full-page ad.

Previously, the pigment could be bought by 100 pound lots, selling for about $2.15 a pound. Most of it came from Yugoslavia, and some from Austria and Southeast Europe. Now, with supplies cut off, prospecting is being carried on in the western states of Oregon, Washington and Wyoming.

Not only is a valuable coloring agent off the market, but Koch laments that people have to take more vitamins, now that there is no nourishment in the dishes.

Campus News Will Brighten Polio Patient

Last August Mary Louise Anderson, OU student, was stricken with polio. Now, Mary Louise is at the Infantile Paralysis Foundation hospital in Warm Springs, Ga.

But the story doesn't close there with a happy ending of quick recovery. Word has been received from her mother that Mary Louise's recovery will be a slow process which may take many years.

Mary Louise, who was preparing to enter her junior year at OU when stricken, is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha. But instead of a full slate of university activities, Mary is able to spend about three hours of divided time a day in a wheel chair. Her mother reports that Mary Louise is able to feed herself fairly well with her left hand, but she still has no deltoids in either arm.

Mary wears steel bars from the top to the bottom of her back plus long leg braces and shoes. News from home is always encouraging to anyone. Mary Louise's address is the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, Warm Springs, Ga.
